

Back to School, All Smiles

No frowns here! These Myron J. Michael pupils, with smiling countenances, seem overly anxious for that good old back to school bell to sound the beginning of the fall term today. Looks like they just can't wait for that door to open. But, it finally did, sheltering them from a hard rainfall that broke shortly after they registered for classes. Cloudy skies were the only gloomy note for the reopening of Kingston's schools. Everybody seemed glad to say: "good morning teacher." Registration figures for public schools were not available today. (Freeman Photo)

Severely Burned In Truck Mishap

Kerhonkson Resident In Kingston Hospital

Abraham Feinberg, of Kerhonkson, sustained severe burns when a 1945 Chevrolet truck he was operating turned over on Route 209 about two miles south of New Paltz at about 12:30 p. m. Sunday and caught fire. The truck was a total loss.

Mr. Feinberg was treated for burns by a New Paltz physician and later taken to his home where he was attended by Dr. Alfred M. Feldshuh, Kerhonkson, who advised that he be removed to the Kingston Hospital for further treatment. Hospital authorities today reported Mr. Feinberg's condition as good.

Corporal Charles Austin of the Highland State Police Barracks, who investigated the accident, said that the right front wheel of the truck fell off and that the truck was forced to the side of the road where it overturned and caught fire. The truck was carrying a load of cabbage and corn.

Tractor-Trailer, Coupe Damaged in Collision

A tractor-trailer and a coupe figured in a collision early this morning on Route 9-W in Esopus resulting in total damage to the car and heavy damages to the trailer. State Police of the Highland Barracks reported this morning.

The coupe was parked along 9-W, heading south. A 1941 Brockway tractor-trailer, owned by Vogt's Dairies, Inc., of New York city, and operated by Gerald Vanberschoten, 28, of New Kingston, also heading south, attempted to swerve around the parked car but the trailer struck the car, the police said, and both vehicles turned over. Herbert Schaefer of New York was driving the Ford.

No personal injuries were sustained. No arrests were made.

Terminal Leave Bonds

Almost Nine Million World War 2 Veterans Can, If They Wish, Cash $1,800,000,000 in Bonds Beginning Today

Washington, Sept. 2 (AP)—Almost 9,000,000 veterans can, if they wish, cash in a total of about $1,800,000,000 in terminal leave bonds today.

As many as 6,500,000 may do so shortly according to a survey conducted by the unofficial service newspaper Army Times, although President Truman and the Treasury have urged them not to unless they are in urgent need of immediate money.

The government takes the position that the bonds are a good investment—equivalent to a check payable any time but drawing interest at 2 1/2 per cent a year until cashed in.

Escaped Napanoch Inmates Captured

Picked Up by Prison Guards at Kerhonkson

The two inmates who escaped from the Napanoch Institution Sunday afternoon at about 4 o'clock were captured this morning at about 6 o'clock, authorities at the institution informed Sheriff George Smith this morning. The men were Harry Hoagland, 23, and Frank Domino, 40.

The escapees were picked up at Kerhonkson by prison guards, assisted by State Police of the Wurtsboro Barracks. They were walking along Route 209 when the police seized them.

The men were reported missing late Sunday afternoon and local police were alerted. The alarm was broadcast over teletype and broadcast by local authorities and the State Police.

Lipkin Wins Award As Insurance Agent

Aaron Lipkin, 95 Hone street, of the Kingston district office, Prudential Insurance Company of America, has been granted the 1947 national quality award conferred by the National Association of Life Underwriters and the Life Insurance Agency Management Association. The award was granted to less than four per cent of the nation's 140,000 qualified underwriters.

To win the award, a life insurance agent must not only sell a fixed amount of new life insurance, but he must show that 90 per cent of his sales during the previous two years have remained in force. Accordingly, the award is a recognition of an agent's ability to write insurance that is so well-fitted to the policyholders' needs that there is small likelihood of it being dropped.

"We are extremely gratified to have a member of our staff win the National Quality Award," said W. Rose, manager of Prudential's Kingston office.

Another adjournment for two weeks was taken in the case of Salvatore Ferro who was arrested on a third degree assault charge last Saturday following a call for the police at 22 Post street. He was arrested on complaint of Marie Ferro.

Local Veterans Storm Banks to Cash Bonds

Veterans lined up at local banks today to cash terminal leave bonds. It was the first chance they had had to convert the securities into cash and the lines which formed before local bank windows were duplicated throughout the nation.

One uptown bank reported that 50 of the bonds had been cashed before noon and others reported a rushing business throughout the morning as the veterans began lining up soon after bank doors opened this morning.

A downtown bank still had a line-up, considerably after noon and indications were that it would remain busy cashing the bonds throughout the afternoon.

Reports from various sources indicated that hundreds of the bonds would be cashed before the end of the day and others were expected to cash the securities during the balance of the week and possibly later in the month.

United Nations Warned of Holy Land Partition

Increase Is Due Largely to New Construction and Valuations

By JOHN A. PARRIS, JR.
Lake Success, Sept. 2 (AP)—The United Nations was warned today that a partition of the Holy Land would "set Palestine and the Arab east on fire."

The warning sharply underlined a promised battle in the U.N. General Assembly which convenes in New York September 16.

Ernie Ghoury of the Palestine Arab Higher Committee declared in Jerusalem that his organization had "rejected" proposals by the U.N. special committee to divide Palestine into Arab and Jewish states, and admit 150,000 Jewish immigrants during the next two years.

He said the Arabs "would use all means at their disposal" to combat the proposals and then released to newsmen an Arab Higher Committee statement declaring that any attempt by the United Nations to carry out the recommendations would result in violence.

Ghoury had said earlier that if Great Britain tried to force partition "we will oppose it by force."

Arab spokesmen promised the seven-state Arab League would fight the report in the General Assembly through its five U.N. members—Egypt, Iraq, Syria, Lebanon and Saudi Arabia.

Immediately after the U. N. committee announced its proposals, both Arabs and Jews began drawing their battle lines for the assembly fight which is expected to be the most heated yet.

Drunk Driving, Assault Cases in City Court Today

Edna M. Shultis, 53, of Bearsville, pleaded innocent through her attorney, Charles Gaffney, to a charge of driving while intoxicated and City Judge Matthew V. Cahill today adjourned the case for a week.

The Bearsville woman was arrested, according to the police, following a call to headquarters at 9:12 p. m. Sunday. The report said that a car driven by her was in collision with one operated by Henry J. Schwelbman, 687 Dixson avenue, New Haven, Conn., on Broadway near Van Deusen street. She was admitted to $500 bail for appearance today.

Judge Cahill adjourned until Wednesday the case of George Harold Wolf, 28, of 263 Hasbrouck avenue, who was arrested at 9:27 p. m. Sunday on a charge of assault, third degree. The police listed Lucy Wolf as the complainant. The defendant was also represented by Attorney Gaffney.

An adjournment for two weeks was announced in the case of Kenneth Otis, 149 Prospect street, who is charged with non-support. Otis was represented by Attorney Fred Stang and William A. Kaercher appeared for Mrs. Otis.

Another adjournment for two weeks was taken in the case of Salvatore Ferro who was arrested on a third degree assault charge last Saturday following a call for the police at 22 Post street. He was arrested on complaint of Marie Ferro.

Million Railroaders Get 15 1/2-Cent Increase

Chicago, Sept. 2 (AP)—An arbitration board today awarded a wage increase of 15 1/2 cents an hour, effective yesterday, to nearly 1,000,000 non-operating workers on the nation's major railroads. The men had asked a boost of 20 cents.

Under an agreement reached by the unions and the carriers, the findings of the arbitration board of six members headed by Dr. William Leiserson, former chairman of the National Labor Relations Board, are binding upon the parties.

The increase was the third awarded to this classification of railroad labor in little more than a year. In 1946 they were awarded a boost of 18 1/2 cents an hour.

Non-operating personnel, amounting to about three-fourths of the lines' total employment, consist of clerks, telegraphers, maintenance men and others not employed directly in the running of trains.

Labor Leaders Pledge All-Out Battle on Law

Murray and Green in Holiday Talks Say Workers Are in Fighting Mood

(By the Associated Press)
Fighting words marked organized labor's observance of its own holiday this year as leaders pledged an all-out battle to strike the Taft-Hartley act from the statute books.

C.I.O. President Philip Murray declared American workers are in a "fighting mood." And A.F.L. President William Green asserted that "labor is rallying its forces to fight against oppression and depression."

Murray, speaking by radio from Kansas City, hammered at the economic consequences he foresees. "I want to say x x x most emphatically," he declared, "that the nation is heading toward another depression—a depression that could easily make the last one appear to be only a minor economic setback."

"I am not saying that another depression is just around the corner," the C.I.O. chief continued. "I am saying that the present trend of higher profits and smaller and smaller purchasing power must be halted and reversed if we are to avoid economic chaos in the future."

As for the fight he said ahead, Murray said the American working men and women "are determined to change the anti-labor legislation of congress; they are determined to wipe the infamous Taft-Hartley law from the statute books."

Green, addressing a Labor Day rally at Chicago's Soldier Field, pledged that the A.F.L.'s fight will be waged "not with ill-considered strikes, but with ballots, in the peaceful, democratic, and American way."

Green laid down this five-point program for 1948 as "worth fighting for":

1. Reduction of the cost of living "to a more reasonable level" with "price-fixing monopolies," "monopolies," and "inflation halted."

2. Measures to "maintain full, year-round employment at 'decent' wages."

3. A housing program "which will encourage and speed up the construction of millions of new and comfortable homes."

4. An increase in the present 40-cent an hour minimum wage in interstate industry.

5. A broadened social security system.

Murray, too, listed five things he said are wanted by "the great mass of working men and women who have become convinced that they are being squeezed economically and pushed around politically."

"They want better homes, better working conditions, improved medical care, adequate educational facilities and real opportunities for advancement," the C.I.O. leader said, adding:

"And these things they shall have if they will use their full economic and political strength wisely."

N. Y. Woman Hurt in Car; Husband Faces Charge

A 1946 Chevrolet sedan, owned and operated by Jack Manheim, 40, of New York city, turned over on its side after crashing into a 1940 Ford operated by Theodore Perrine, 60, of Maplewood, N. J., at about 1:10 p. m. Saturday on the Wittenberg road, resulting in minor injuries to Mrs. Nellie Manheim, 32, a passenger in her husband's car. Mrs. Manheim sustained slight head contusions.

According to a report submitted to the sheriff's office by Deputy Sheriff William Frost, who investigated the accident, the Ford was parked on the south side of the highway when it was struck in the rear of Manheim's car. Both vehicles were badly damaged.

Manheim was placed under arrest by Deputy Frost on a charge of failing to have his auto under control. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace George Brandly, of Woodstock, Manheim was released on $25 bail pending a further hearing.

Not a Threat, Truman Tells Inter-American Conference on Defense Today

To Sign Treaty

Lays Down Four Point American Policy

Quitandinha, Brazil, Sept. 2 (AP)—President Truman said today the United States is "determined to remain strong" to back up a foreign policy based on a desire for permanent peace.

He told the Inter-American Defense Conference that this "is in no way a threat" because "no great nation has been more reluctant than ours to use armed force."

But, he said, "our aversion to violence must not be misread as a lack of determination on our part to live up to the obligations of the United Nations charter or as an invitation to others to take liberties with the foundations of international peace."

"Our military strength will be retained as evidence of the seriousness with which we view our obligations."

Nevertheless, Mr. Truman expressed confidence that current international disputes can be settled without armed conflict and gave this pledge:

"The world may depend upon it that we shall continue to go far out of our way to avoid anything that would increase the tensions of international life."

Mr. Truman said the postwar era "has brought us bitter disappointment and deep concern."

"We find," he said, "that a number of nations are still subjected to a type of foreign domination which we fought to overcome. Many of the remaining peoples of Europe and Asia live under the shadow of armed aggression."

And he asserted that European economic recovery has lagged because of "political fear and uncertainty in addition to the devastation caused by war."

Traffic Is Heavy, But Accidents Few

A heavy flow of traffic into the city and county at the beginning of the holiday week-end and a heavier return flow from the area throughout Monday resulted in only a few minor accidents, according to the police.

Traffic, which was heavy over all main routes in the region starting at noon Friday was considerably increased as vacationists and week-enders headed for the metropolitan area yesterday.

It moved in "steady flows" over main arteries of travel without serious interruptions or congestion in the city.

Minor accidents reported locally resulted in no serious injuries to drivers nor occupants of vehicles involved.

Three autos were damaged slightly in a collision at Broadway and Henry street at 11:10 p. m. Sunday.

One car, operated by John P. Reading, 67 Malden Lane, according to the police, was forced off its course by "some obstacle in the road." It was in collision with a car driven by Daniel A. Warren, Jr., R.D. No. 1, New Paltz, which in turn was in collision with a car, owned by Charles W. Rack of East Rockaway, which was parked by the curb.

All cars were damaged, the report said, but no injuries were reported.

Another slight accident reported at 1:10 p. m. Monday, involved an auto operated by Mary Cramer, who was turning into her driveway at 132 East Chester street and a car operated by Paul Natlie, R.D. 1, Kingston. The former, the report said, suffered a bump on her head and a shoulder injury in the collision.

Nation Observes Last Holiday Week-End of Summer With Accident Death Toll of 421 Persons

(By The Associated Press)
The nation observed its last holiday week-end of the summer with an accident death toll of at least 421 persons.

Not less than 266 died in Labor Day holiday traffic mishaps, slightly more than the National Safety Council's prediction of 250. This compared with 246 killed on the highways during the same period in 1946.

The death toll for the week-end also included 80 drownings and 75 in other accidents, including 21 deaths in plane crashes.

The toll among motorists apparently still was below the total of pre-war years. In 1941, the traffic death toll was 423 persons.

California compiled the largest traffic death toll—23. Texas was close behind with 22, and New York was third with 18. New York also had three drownings and five miscellaneous deaths.

Connecticut and New Jersey had two traffic deaths each.

Ex-Legion Leader To Tour in Europe; O'Neil Takes Over

New York, Sept. 2 (AP)—Paul H. Griffith of Uniontown, Pa., whose term as national commander ended at the close of the 29th annual American Legion convention Sunday, will head a party of 150 Legionnaires from all 48 states who leave tomorrow for a post-convention tour of European battle fields.

Griffith's successor, James F. O'Neil of Manchester, N. H., will see them off on the Queen Elizabeth and then go to Legion headquarters in Indianapolis to "find out what makes it click."

O'Neil draws the job of carrying out the strongest anti-Communist program ever adopted by the Legion.

Griffith said his group planned to visit displaced persons camps at the invitation of Gen. Lucius Clay, United States commander in Europe, and would report to the Legion and to President Truman upon its return.

Although Edward McGrath, convention director, estimated that the four-day meeting brought 250,000 visitors to the city, and official registration of 50,000 was the greatest of any Legion meeting, the fun-making proved milder than that of the 1937 convention here.

Only 46 visitors went to hospitals, compared with the 200 injured during the 1937 parade, and only one was injured seriously. As in 1937, no arrests of Legionnaires were reported.

"The fellows are really getting mellow," commented a doctor who served at the convention aid station.

At the final business session Sunday, the delegates changed the Legion oath to ban Communists and urged that they be barred from public offices, public school facilities and from employment, and be deprived of bill of rights protection in sedition trials.

Adopting a foreign affairs committee report endorsing the Marshall plan for Europe, the convention termed Communism "the greatest menace facing America today."

A move to gain support for the Wagner-Elender-Taft housing bill was turned back 2796-722.

The convention resolved "that the United States not disclose secrets of atomic energy to any country, friendly or otherwise," that it "refuse any such secrets to international control" and "refuse to agree to any restrictions or destruction of present or future stockpiles."

Strengthening the air force and the merchant marine and enactment of universal military training by a special session of Congress also were asked.

The 1948 convention city will be selected by the executive committee, probably in November.

Urge School Aid to States From Federal Government

Cazenovia, N. Y., Sept. 2 (AP)—The Sixth Annual Conference of Young Adults, urges the federal government to provide increased aid to the states for education.

The conference, sponsored by the State Education Department, concluded its sessions at Cazenovia Junior College yesterday by adopting resolutions endorsing increased federal aid for education, the Marshall plan for Europe, and the long range policies of the United Nations agencies on rehabilitation.

The conference also asked the State Community Service Council to go on record in favor of an overseas information and cultural program such as proposed in the Mundt Bill in the last Congress.

Henry H. Tompkins of Binghamton was elected chairman at the closing session and Orma Preston, Wilmington, was chosen vice chairman.

Rosita Rico, Tarrytown, was named recording secretary.

The council elected these executive committee members of District Five: Chairman, Martin Masarech, Tarrytown; representative at large, Lillian Stein, New Rochelle.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 2 (AP)—More than 2,100 resort hotels in New York state are remaining open beyond the Labor Day week-end.

The State Commerce Department, noting that "many vacationists are taking their holidays after the summer rush is over," reported Saturday that a survey of vacation counters showed 2,184 hotels will remain open until September 15. The department's survey, covering the Catskills, Adirondacks, Thousand Islands, Long Island and Finger Lake regions, also showed that 1,173 hotels will remain open until October 1, 1,657 until October 15, and 433 until December 1. Heavy Holiday Strain On N. Y. Travel Facilities

New York, Sept. 2 (AP)—New Yorkers returning from Labor Day week-ends, American Legionnaires homeward bound from their convention here, and the pre-school return of families from summer resorts combined last night and this morning to put a heavy strain on travel facilities.

LaGuardia Field scheduled 59 extra flights yesterday, the Pennsylvania railroad scheduled 151 extra sections, and the New York Central and the New York, New Haven and Hartford ran a total of 126 special trains.

A Pennsylvania spokesman said, however, that travel on his line was slightly less than on Labor Day last year.

Crowded beaches and an attendance of 600,000 at Central Park showed that many chose to spend the holiday in town.

HARRY R. MOONEY
Authority on Deafness

The many hard-of-hearing in this city will have an exceptional opportunity to find out how they may once again experience relaxed, noise-free hearing. A FREE HEARING CLINIC will be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Room 120, Kingston, N. Y., Thursday, September 4, 1947 by Mr. Mooney at which time he will test the hard-of-hearing for individual hearing deficiencies. This clinic will also serve to introduce a new Acousticon development in hearing aids. This new discovery by the world's first and oldest manufacturers of electrical hearing aids offers amazing clarity and brilliant tone without the harsh background noises usually encountered. This instrument, in spite of its power, is so small it barely covers the palm—and that's with the batteries enclosed!

Letters have been pouring in from those who have already tried this new Acousticon, saying how thrilled they were with this hearing aid. Many of them say that they have never experienced such clarity of tone against such a velvet-quiet background. The manufacturers of this instrument say that no one can even imagine what it may do for them until they hear it with their own ears.

Those hard of hearing who have been searching for the answer to their personal hearing problems are urged to attend this FREE CLINIC.

If you cannot call then Telephone Mr. Mooney, Kingston 2700 and arrange without obligation, to have him call on you.

Planthaber Store Cellar Is Damaged By Fire Monday

A fire of unknown origin damaged a cellar entrance on the Perry street side of Planthaber's Market, 30 East Strand early Monday morning.

An alarm for the blaze was sent in by Special Officer Charles Hoehing who was patrolling the area at the time. "He sounded the alarm from a box at East Strand and Hasbrouck avenue at 2:35 a. m., as Special Officer Royal Mick and others near the store broke through the cellar doors to make sure that no one was trapped there."

The fire, according to the firemen, originated in some boxes and refuse in the doorway and extended over the entire area of the entrance, but no other part of the building was damaged. The recall alarm was sounded at 3:04 a. m.

The first was at 9:53 p. m., for a fire in an auto owned by Francis W. Churchwell, 477 Abbel street, on Spring street near Post street. The blaze, which according to the firemen, was caused by a short circuit, caused little damage.

The other call at 3:45 p. m. Monday was for a fire in an auto owned by Mrs. Clara Tobias of Brooklyn at Delaware avenue and Broadway. The blaze, the firemen said, was apparently caused by a break in the gasoline line of the car. It was checked with chemicals. Damage was slight.

Three Arrested Following Fight At Empire Diner

Three men were arrested by the local police who staged a roundup following the report of a fight at the Empire Diner, 476 Broadway, at 1:15 a. m. Monday.

The men arrested were Raymond Reiff, Jr., of 488 Van Cortlandt Park avenue, Yonkers, Richard and Charles Stantial, of 502 Tower avenue, Maybrook, N. Y. All were charged with disorderly conduct.

City Judge Matthew V. Cahill withdrew the charge against Reiff Monday, but hearing on the charges against the other two was advanced to September 8. They were released under $500 bail each.

Reiff and Richard Stantial, the police reported, were apprehended by Officers Kenneth Hyatt and Leonard Ellsworth, who scouted for them in a patrol car. They were arrested, following identification by John Themistokles, manager of the diner.

Another radio car in charge of Officers Walter Van Steenburgh and Francis Fagan, was called into action following the report of the fight. They brought the men to the diner for identification after they were stopped by the other patrol car.

Charles Stantial was arrested, according to the report, when he appeared at police headquarters to help his brother. He was identified by a waitress and the manager of the diner, the police said, as one of the instigators of the trouble.

"Telephone equipment does extra duty when it is used the party-line way"

It's as simple as this—party line service enables several families to make and receive calls over a single line to our central office.

Just now we haven't enough facilities to give service to the hundreds who have requested it. Under the circumstances, available equipment must be shared so as to give a telephone to as many families as possible. That's why, in most communities, new service is being provided on a party-line basis only, and why, for the present, individual lines are not available for those who now have party lines.

Telephone factories are working on huge orders to provide the switchboards, cables and other equipment needed to catch up with the demand. We are doing everything in our power to speed the day when we can give anyone, anywhere the type of service desired—without delay.

YOU KNOW what it was like during the wartime cigarette shortage: people took any brand they could get, a different brand every day sometimes. That's when smokers discovered that Camel's rich taste and cool mildness added up to a smoking pleasure they didn't find in any other cigarette.

As a result of that experience, more people are smoking Camels than ever before!

BRITISH FAMILY

In thinking of Great Britain's problems and their solution, with our aid or without it, it is easy to lose sight of the real beneficiary of any help we have given or will give. That beneficiary is the ordinary British family.

Lee Van Atta, talking with a young housewife, asked her what she considered England's greatest need. "Food—and more food," she said. "We don't want miracles, but we do want a chance to raise our children as they should be raised, and we are not getting it."

This woman is 32, has two young children, one of whom she places in a day nursery while she works at a hotel job. Her pay of eighteen dollars a week is supplemented by her husband's pension of three dollars a week, paid him as an incurable war casualty. Bombings of 1941 and 1942 robbed them of home and furniture. The mother of the family hasn't eaten an egg in six years, and milk, oranges and candy have been unknown to them since 1940. They must pay rent for their small apartment, have had to buy furniture for it, and with the rest of the twenty-one dollars a week pay for food, gas, heat, light, water, insurance and day nursery.

If this woman and the thousands like her in England could make themselves heard above the roar of discussion about the dollar shortage, the sterling reserve and the nationalization of steel, they would advise their government and ours to cut the red tape, shorten the discussions, and act at once to get more food over there for the common people.

Food isn't a luxury; it's fuel under the boilers. No fuel, no steam. Poor fuel, scanty energy, low energy, slow recovery. Lagging recovery, hopeless world.

GET READY FOR WINTER

Summer and early fall are the times for preparing homes for winter—with especial attention paid to the elimination of fire hazards.

One of the major causes of home fires is defective heating units, ranging all way from oil stoves to central heating systems. Even the best of appliances become worn. Flues and chimneys become filled with soot. During the war, it was often impossible to adequately maintain heating plants due to shortages of parts and labor. There are still shortages, but not as severe as in the immediate past. The money spent will pay tremendous dividends in safety and security.

Faulty electric wiring is still a major destroyer of homes. Important repairs should be made by a qualified electrician. Frayed cords should be replaced. Then, when your electrical equipment is subjected to the heaviest use, it will safely carry the load.

Lastly, during the pleasant weather, homeowners should carry on a rigorous campaign to rid their property of junk. Thousands of fires have originated in attics and cellars and closets filled with old clothes, furniture, magazines, etc. Many fires have resulted from improper storage of paint, gasoline and other inflammables. A clean and orderly house offers fire few opportunities.

INSTALLMENT VACATIONS

A travel agency in the Northwest is capitalizing on two strong inclinations common to most Americans: the desire for a yearly vacation and a liking for installment buying.

The woman responsible for the idea had working girls in mind, but the plan has been adopted by business men as well. One airline pilot is paying month by month for an around-the-world trip in 1951.

A trip around the world would seem well worth a five-year period of saving and dreaming. The usual two-week rest could be easily and painlessly financed by this method. Strong-minded souls who have no need for the aid of an agency can always do their own saving in the cracked sugar bowl on the top shelf, with frequent transfers of the sugar silver to the bank.

WHAT'LL YOU HAVE?

Hard liquor used to be the favorite American alcoholic tipple, but a change seems to be in the offing. Revenue Department figures show that 52,000,000 gallons more beer were

BAD LAW

The American theory and practice has been that a man can start in business for himself on a shoestring and become a millionaire. Many Americans did just that. In fact, most successful men in this country, even today, are not the products of inherited wealth but are "self-made" in the sense that what they are is individual achievement.

Many a man, before we became mature and sophisticated, started as a newsboy. After school hours, he delivered newspapers or stood at a corner selling them. Some boys worked a news route, before they went to school, winter and summer, and it did them no harm, for they went far in life. It would be a wonderful thing for the country if all those who started life selling papers would organize a union. I hereby declare myself its secretary.

Well, the social workers came on the scene and established the theory that idleness was the main purpose of childhood and early youth had succeeded in increasing juvenile delinquency until it became a national problem and made plenty of jobs for social workers.

So they changed the name of newsboy to news vendors, which makes it look terrific. Now a news vendor is a retailer who buys his papers at one price and sells them at another and makes a profit out of the spread like vendors of meat, butter, steel, automobiles or ladies' dresses.

But no! A Federal judge out in California, by the name of Louis Earl Goodman, decided that although these vendors sold many different newspapers and magazines and comic books and who-dunnits, and sometimes balloons and chewing gum, as you can see for yourself if you look, the vendor was an employee of the newspaper. In fact, the judge took the position that the product vendor, the newspaper, was under the control of the employer until it reached the ultimate consumer, the reader. If his decision makes sense, then there are no longer any retailers in the United States but only employers and employees and if you go into a drug store and buy a lipstick that lipstick is under the control of its manufacturer until it reaches the lips of any fair lady. If that is good law, America has been all wrong from the beginning.

The fact that the case before Judge Goodman involved social security taxes is a small matter compared to the greater issue that his decision, if upheld by the Supreme Court, at one fell swoop wipes out the American storekeeper. So Representative Gearhart of California introduced a bill in Congress to right this wrong, and the only opposition to it being the C.I.O., it passed both Houses and went to the President for his signature.

In spite of the fact that President Truman had himself been a haberdasher, and therefore a retailer, he vetoed this bill by a memorandum of disapproval which in substance bases the argument on the fact that "other employers to seek exemptions whenever they can allege that the law is inconvenient or difficult for them to comply with. It would establish a precedent for special exemption and the exclusion of one group would lead to efforts to remove social security protection from workers in other activities. Demands for further special legislation would be inevitable."

"We must not open our social security structure to piecemeal attack and to slow undermining. We must, instead, devote our energies to expanding and strengthening that system."

But that is nonsense because the newspapers can withhold nothing as they pay these vendors nothing anymore than Armour or Swift pays a grocer for selling their butter or bologna. As "Editor and Publisher" so correctly says:

"Vendors pay the wholesale price for papers and sell them at retail, just the same as they buy candy, gum, magazines, etc., at wholesale and sell them at retail. The difference between what they pay and what they receive for this merchandise is their profit. If they are to be considered employees of newspapers, they are likewise employees of magazines and candy manufacturers, etc."

All of which the President must know because he sold shirts, neckties and handkerchiefs. Or has he forgotten the facts of life since he entered the White House?

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

RHEUMATIC FEVER

"Rheumatic fever is one of the most important causes of death in children and young adults. In children in the age group of 10 to 14, it is the chief cause of death; and between the ages of 15 to 25 it is second to tuberculosis. The death rate from rheumatic fever has decreased but the rate of decrease is less than from other diseases, so that the proportion of deaths due to rheumatic fever in relation to the total number of deaths of persons under 25 shows an increase."

I am quoting Dr. Albert D. Kaiser of Rochester, N. Y., in "New York State Journal of Medicine." It is because rheumatic fever is now recognized as childhood's greatest enemy that physicians everywhere today are watching and following cases of sore throat which formerly would not have received more than the usual care during the attack of sore throat.

Unfortunately, up to the present, the physician has no way of knowing that rheumatic fever may attack an individual as he can by making tests for tuberculosis and syphilis—the tuberculin and Wassermann tests. This is what makes it difficult for public health departments to be "ready" for epidemics of rheumatic fever which accompany certain streptococcus infections of the throat.

If, then, rheumatic fever may not be recognized by the family or even by the physician because the joint or rheumatic symptoms are very mild, what can parents and patients do to prevent attacks of rheumatism or prevent heart complications?

The most important—in fact, the all-important treatment for rheumatic fever—is keeping the patient in bed for a long time, and then having him rest a part of the day after he is allowed up on his feet.

Because of the danger to the heart and the possibility of future attacks of rheumatic fever, Dr. Kaiser states that provisions for convalescent hospitals are desirable which would provide not only for rheumatic fever children but also for adults. While the state or province should be responsible, some local health agencies are beginning to deal with rheumatic fever along the lines that have proved successful with tuberculosis.

The State of the World

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Sept. 1.—To my own skeptical, even captious, mind, it was plain that Garson Kanin's prototype of the crude, greedy capitalist in the Broadway play "Born Yesterday" was not a "Born Yesterday" character that we saw on the stage. The prototype seemed to me to be Murray W. Garson, the inveterate crook who was mixed up with Congressmen and a Collier's man, and he certainly was not the hero of the situation as Kanin's reporter was. He was a red-hot New Dealer, to be sure, who made an enormous speech, measured by decibels, at the 1944 Democratic convention, by name Quentin Reynolds. Mr. Reynolds made a great profit out of the war as a correspondent and patriotic lecturer for large fees. Unfortunately he had to be absent from many critical and uncomfortable scenes of battle to keep prior profitable engagements made by his managers. The trial evidence in the case of the peace vs. Murray Garson and Andrew May had it that he got $2,000—or making a rapturous speech about the Garson munitions enterprises and Mr. Garson's fine character. This $2,000 ultimately was paid by the taxpayers through their payment to Garson. The relationship between the New Republic man and the blonde in the play was, of course, literary license and invention.

Two other congressmen besides Mr. May had had important dealings with Murray Garson in years long gone by. Both are now Deputies, Sam Dickstein, of New York, who slid out of his cheap job in Congress into his political reward as a judge of the New York Supreme Court at $25,000 a year, virtually for life; and Adolph Sabath of Chicago. Both are passionate anti-Nazis, of course, and he, today enough, had truck with Murray Garson in connection with their committee work in Congress. Garson was a notorious crook in the limited circle of those who knew him, for years and years, a sneak and grafter and shakedown operator. He worked in the current of Dickstein's duties in the investigation of immigration frauds when Dickstein controlled immigration and naturalization, and with Sabath in the unbelievable loose and ineffective investigation of the so-called "reorganization frauds" involving crooked investment corporations after the great crash. Lawyers and other rascals set to guard the wreckage made off with the salvage. It was hilarious but cruel. In Hollywood, this Garson had opportunities to shake down foreign actors working in movies and the extravagant producing companies employing them. Also, in Hollywood, and elsewhere, too, he shook down corporation promoters and investors in the great "reorganization" farce. One gift or loan of $100,000 was hung on him in incidental testimony in another trial. He had a police record in New York all the time that he was working with these two congressional committees.

The Herald Tribune's editorial judgment in selecting Garson Kanin as the beneficiary of the priceless gift of two columns of publicity on a Sunday is the more interesting because Donald Ogden Stewart is the author of the new play which Kanin is producing. Stewart has been cited 72 times in the reports of the Dies Committee on Un-American Activities and although he is described as a humorist he once blew up at an alumni dinner of Exeter Academy because another orator had warned those present not to relax their suspicions of Soviet Russia just because we happened to be momentarily on the same side of the war. I ought to know. I was the other speaker and I refer to recent developments as confirmation of my prophecy.

Garson Kanin recently went to Washington as a character witness for a Communist plotter named Carl Aldo Marzani, alias Tony Whales, who stowed away in our State Department under false representations concerning his personal history. Marzani was convicted of perjury and sentenced to one to three years in prison. Kanin gave this Communist spy a "first-rate" reputation "for peace and good order and being a law-abiding citizen."

Kanin himself was asked whether he had ever been a member or sponsor of the joint anti-Fascist Refugee Committee after stalling on the part of this great literary hero of the Herald Tribune's drama section, he finally said he couldn't remember, but he was "willing to say yes."

Later, on re-examination, he was asked whether this was a Communist organization and the court sustained an objection but disallowed a motion for a mistrial.

However, the joint anti-Fascist Refugee Committee was identified as a Communist front in the United States by two committees of Congress in formal reports, a fact which might account for Mr. Kanin's angry temper toward Congress expressed in "Born Yesterday." And Howard Fast, a writer of pro-Communist propaganda, said in a book called "Lito the Incredible" that this front had financed the return of Drug Tito, the Communist dictator, to Yugoslavia after the allies and driven out of the Nazis. Fast was convicted of contempt of Congress and sentenced to three months in prison for refusing to reveal to a committee the records of the joint anti-Fascist Refugee Committee.

Kanin testified that he served in the war with the Office of Strategic Services, the so-called cloak and dagger service organized by Maj.-Gen. William J. Donovan, who is so naive after all his service among Communists that he still doesn't suspect where Kanin's sympathies might be.

Marzani and Kanin saved democracy together in the O.S.S., but Kanin's service was hardly comparable to that of some other Americans who had less urgent personal reasons to thirst for the blood of the Hitlerites. Donovan put him to work making moving pictures, not actually for public propaganda but to "spell out" situations by the cut-up and taxpayer's dollar system of graphic charts, to officers who were running the war. It needn't be pointed out that such a mission was not merely non-hazardous but a fine opportunity to put over the sort of ideological ideas that Garson Kanin and his friends Donald Ogden Stewart cherish and promote.

There is no such artistic merit in Kanin's plays or other theatrical work as would exist him in the Herald Tribune on a Sunday high above all other authors and producers of the drama whose ideas, however, might irritate the Communist front and hearten the conventional, loyal American. The selection of Kanin as beneficiary of this journalistic favor obviously was arbitrary and might have been capricious. Should the editor elect to exercise his freedom to advertise gratuitously far beyond his professional deserts a person of Kanin's interesting political background, that is not necessarily proof of ideological contamination in the editorial office.

But recalling some absolutely false statements by the Herald Tribune's Sunday Book Department exalting John Roy Carlson, the professional sneak and author of "Under Cover," I shift the burden of proof to the Herald Tribune. Something mighty peculiar goes on there.

President's Statement That "Good Labor Relations Cannot Be Brought About by Legislation," Logically Means Repeal of Law

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 2.—No truer words were ever spoken than those of President Truman in his Labor Day statement when he said that "good labor relations cannot be brought about by legislation," and instead "are created by the men and women concerned, cooperating sincerely and earnestly within the framework of a minimum amount of regulatory law."

Logically this means repeal of the Wagner-Taft-Hartley law, for that is really its right name if content is considered, because the backbone of the Wagner law is still included word for word in the Taft-Hartley law. In fact, there is more of the Wagner law text in the new statute than there is of the House measure known as the Hartley bill.

So when labor unions call for the repeal of the Taft-Hartley law they are in effect calling for a repeal of the old Wagner law, too. This, of course, is not what they mean. They want the same one-sided labor law and one-sided labor board that they had before. It would be a great step forward and in keeping with the spirit of President Truman's Labor Day message if the spokesmen for labor unions frankly called for the repeal of the Taft-Hartley law and admitted also that they did not want the Wagner law put back in its place.

For what the labor unions during the last 12 years have defended is a law that put the clamps on employers and gave labor unions the license to do as they pleased. Such a statute was for 12 years protected against the slightest amendment by Congress through the efforts of the most powerful labor lobby the national capital has ever seen and by the most brazen alliance of money and votes that ever supported a national administration.

Throughout the length and breadth of the land, during the last decade, union organizers misled workers into believing it was ordered by law that they join a union. To this day this sort of misrepresentation exists, aided and abetted by statements made by the President and members of his cabinet at every opportunity. Thus, in the Labor Day statement, Mr. Truman said:

"The right to join a union of one's own choice is unquestioned today and is sanctioned and protected by law."

Mr. Truman did not tell all of the story. The fact is that the right to refrain from joining a union is also sanctioned and protected by law today. This is the great contribution that the Taft-Hartley law has made to the civil liberties of the present epoch. Certainly candor should have required the making of this additional statement in view of the fact that this right was given protection for the first time a few weeks ago. It was the big chance for balanced comment in a Labor Day statement by the nation's chief executive.

Labor relations would be ideal of course if there were no compulsion of law about them, and if workers and employers could sit down together through chosen representatives and arrive at agreements without threatening economic and physical violence. Clearly, it would be better if the federal government kept out of the bargaining process. But for 12 years the federal government has been in it with both feet, using the Wagner act as its instrument of intervention. It is a matter of record that the Supreme Court of the United States actually said in one of its opinions—in the Newport News Shipbuilding Company case—that although relations between labor and employer had been for years mutually satisfactory, nevertheless, the order of the National Labor Relations Board disestablishing the workers' union had to be obeyed literally and those good relations had to be upset. This, it said, was the responsibility of Congress when it passed the Wagner act—not the courts.

Collective bargaining was making rapid progress in America before 1935. It didn't really need the Wagner law and its mischievous interpretations by a prejudiced board. If labor-union leaders, however, are sincere and will pledge themselves to respect the Wagner law, an entirely new attempt to put any other in its place, relying solely on the great power of voluntary action and common sense, employers ought to join enthusiastically in that movement for repeal and thus carry out the letter as well as the spirit of President Truman's declaration on Labor Day.

MacArthur Calls For Tolerance in Jap Peace Treaty

Tokyo, Sept. 2 (AP)—General MacArthur, observing the second anniversary of Japan's formal surrender, said today his occupation policy of "right, rather than might," had resulted in "a minimum of fear, of confusion, of unrest" in Japan, despite a critically short economy.

He urged that a peace treaty for the Japanese be drawn "in the same tolerant and just atmosphere."

The supreme commander, in a public V-J Day statement, said Japan should not become a burden upon the economy of any other nation after a peace treaty is reached. He added:

"This defeated country has the opportunity to become self-sustaining, rather than reduced to a condition of mendicancy. . . . A people given a fair chance, will reach the niche in human society to which their own industry, their own skill and their own perseverance entitle them, without largess from others."

"It is furthermore a false concept which contends that democracy can only thrive if maintained in plenty. On the contrary, history shows that it springs from hardship and struggle and toil."

MacArthur said Japan is in no danger of imminent economic collapse. The war disrupted the country to a point where "economic prostration was complete at the beginning of the occupation," but since the surrender, with the guidance of occupation forces, "Japan has been gradually restoring her shattered economy and the curve is up, not down."

Our Dreams and the Facts---2 Years After War's Official End

WE DREAMED OF AN AIR AGE . . . when everyone would have a plane in his back yard, and the nation would sprout wings. . . . BUT . . . there are only 81,000 civil airplanes now licensed by the CAA.

WE WANTED FOOD . . . lots of it, without rationing; we wanted to eat our fill of meats and delicacies and imported foods we'd missed. . . . BUT . . . the cost of food has risen sharply, and meat has been short.

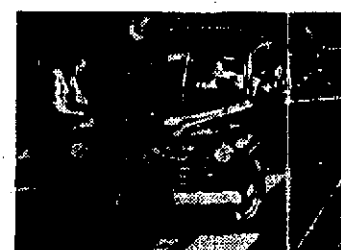

WE WANTED PROSPERITY . . . and economists said that, after a mild postwar slump, we should have unbounded prosperity. . . . BUT . . . although wages and employment are sky-high, prosperity is doubtful because of soaring prices.

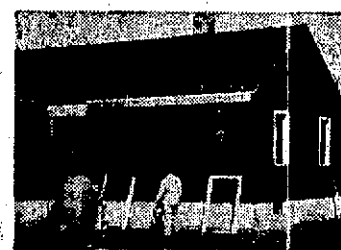

We hoped that the peace General MacArthur signed Sept. 1, 1945, would mean the end, for all time, of wars . . .

But the map above shows where fighting and bloodshed has occurred in the two troubled years since V-J Day.

WE WANTED CARS . . . and the prediction was that the automotive industry would build 6,000,000 cars a year for 3 or 4 years after peace. . . . BUT . . . cars are still scarce; in 1946, only 3,100,000 were manufactured.

WE WANTED HOMES . . . and the construction industry said it would build 1,000,000 homes per year for 10 years after the war ended. . . . BUT . . . America is still faced with a housing shortage; estimated construction for 1947 is 700,000 homes.

WE WANTED GADGETS . . . like television, which was supposed to be in 10,000,000 homes within two years after the war ended. . . . BUT . . . only 5700 television sets were made in 1946, and few cities have television transmitting stations.

Traffic Heavy, Barn Burns

Stewartsville, N. J., Sept. 2 (AP)—Henry Meecey reported his barn in flames and watched for the arrival of the fire company from nearby Phillipsburg. When it was reported: entangled in yesterday's heavy holiday traffic, Meecey summoned a second company to attempt the five-mile route to his burning barn. It too was snarled in the stream of slow-moving vehicles and the same thing happened to a third company called by Meecey. They couldn't get through the traffic jam. The fourth was more successful. It came within several hundred yards of the barn and then broke down. The farmer hauled out his tractor and pulled the fire-fighting apparatus the remaining distance. The fire, however, already had run its course. The barn and its 50 tons of hay, valued at $10,000, were listed by Meecey as a complete loss.

Sharp Increases Forecast by State In School Pupils

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 2 (AP)—Sharply increased enrollments, from kindergartens to colleges, were forecast today by the State Education Department as the annual back-to-school movement started for New York's scholastic army.

An increase of 100,000 over last year's total enrollment of 2,562,566 in the state's colleges, high schools and elementary schools was estimated tentatively by Dr. Wayne W. Soper, chief of the bureau of statistical services.

The figure included another all-time high in college enrollments, swollen by a post-war flood of veterans. The division of higher education estimated that 200,000 full-time students would enroll in the state's 110 colleges and universities, compared to last year's record 191,000 and a 1940-41 pre-war figure of 102,400.

Dr. Soper cautioned that his forecast on total enrollment was "only a guess" and could not be confirmed until class rolls were reported to the department later this fall.

There was a considerable increase last year and we're sure there will be another increase this year," he said.

Dr. Soper estimated that last year's public elementary school enrollment of 1,255,000 would go to 1,300,000 this fall and that public high school students would increase from 576,600 to 600,000. Another 500,000 were expected to enter parochial, private and part-time schools and academies.

Rural schools and most of the central high schools opened today. Classes in many of the urban institutions, however, will not start until next Monday, following a week of registration.

Colleges will be the last to open, getting under way later in September. New York's State's elementary and secondary school population was higher in the middle 30's than at present, Dr. Soper said. He added that enrollment in such schools was returning now to pre-war levels after a war-time drop.

In the last pre-war year, 1940-41, elementary students numbered 1,417,000 and high school students 742,000.

Plenty of Turkeys in N. Y. For Thanksgiving Day

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 2 (AP)—There will be plenty of turkey and cranberry sauce for the state's dinner tables on Thanksgiving Day.

The State Agriculture Department reported yesterday that there are 741,000 turkeys in New York, 70 per cent above the 1936-43 average. The cranberry crop will probably total 770,900 barrels, against a 10-year average of 638,000.

"There will also be adequate supplies of apples, grapes and other fruits to add to the holiday festivities," the department added.

There are more than 300 million cubic miles of ocean.

Prohibitionists Have Won Battle To Dry Up a Third of the Nation

(American Magazine Map)

This map tells the story of the battle for local option prohibition. More than 25,000,000 Americans can't buy a drink of liquor, 10,000,000 of them can't even buy beer in the areas where they live.

By NEA Service
The United States is drying up again, much faster than most people realize.

On thousands of separate fronts throughout the country, the Drys are battling the Wets on the issue of prohibition, and in the majority of cases the Drys are winning. In 20,000 local option elections since repeal, the Drys have won 12,000.

Already a third of the nation has been dried up. Today more than 25,000,000 Americans can't legally buy a drink of liquor; 10,000,000 can't buy legal beer; all this according to Frederick G. Brownell, who assayed the growing prohibition movement for American Magazine.

Three states—Kansas, Mississippi and Oklahoma—never repealed their constitutional bans on drinking. Even in traditionally Wet cities like Chicago, 128 precincts have voted themselves Dry.

The biggest battle between Wets and Drys at the moment is being fought in Kentucky, Brownell found. Kentucky, which produces 43 per cent of the nation's whiskey, already is 82 per cent Dry. Wet Kentucky, Brownell says, is drier than Dry Kansas.

There are now 92 wholly Dry counties in the state and 15 more which contain considerable Dry territory. The Drys are seeking local option elections in seven of the remaining Wet counties this fall and have an even chance of winning them, Brownell found.

One argument Drys have been unable to overcome so far is "who's going to pay the bills if prohibition returns to Kentucky?" Liquor taxes of $11,000,000 last year paid almost a third of the state's general expenses.

The problem of state revenue killed a proposed state-wide prohibition referendum in Alabama even before it got thoroughly started because no one could suggest how to replace the nearly $12,000,000 revenue that would be lost if liquor sales were banned.

Nevertheless, the Drys are pushing their campaign for return of national prohibition. Predictions of how soon this can be accomplished vary from five to 20 years. "Five years if the West don't get smart and correct current abuses," says Deets Pickett of the Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church.

In Congress, Arthur Capper of Kansas heads the Dry forces in the Senate, and Joseph R. Bryson, of South Carolina, Dry "internally, externally and eternally," does the same job in the House.

Bryson estimates that 10 per cent of the present House is for prohibition as a matter of principle while most of the Southern Representatives, except those from metropolitan centers, would vote Dry as a matter of expediency.

On the national front, the latest drive of the Drys was an unsuccessful attempt to secure passage of Capper's bill to ban interstate liquor advertising. Capper believes that sentiments for prohibition is growing about as fast as it did at the turn of the century, before the passage of the 18th Amendment.

Symbol of Maternity

In Oriental art the bat is a symbol of maternity. At one time Oriental rugs with bats in the corners were eagerly sought by barren women as a maternity charm.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

BY ED CREAGH

(For Hal Boyle)

London, (AP)—I hate to disagree with Hal Boyle on anything, except maybe the question who'll set up the next chocolate malted, but when he says as he did in that column that we don't have no summers in England—

Hal, things have changed since you shook the clinging mud of this island from your number eleven. Time was, as you say, when summer would steal in one morning in July, pose for photographs and freeze her little kneecaps off by supper time. But no more, Hal, as sure as I lie here panting in front of the open refrigerator door. Times have changed.

Since August 7, there has not been one day that the big old sun hasn't come scorching through the London haze and the country mist, browning the fields, browning off the people, sunburning noses, drying up fish, frying eggs—eggs? What am I saying? We haven't had a fresh egg since Whit-Sunday, seems like.

Hot? Being a man not given to exaggeration, Hal, you wouldn't believe me if I told you that the White Cliffs of Dover have to be treated with suntan lotion every evening and that beads of perspiration the size of marbles course down the forehead of Abraham Lincoln's statue in Parliament Square.

Hot? It's gospel truth, Boyle, that otherwise respectable Englishmen have gone so far as to shed their jackets right in broad daylight, even when they didn't intend to fight. Gad, air, are all our standards deserting us?

What's worse, there is no escape from this blistering heat. The subway stations are so steamy that you expect a couple of finks to come up and whack you with wet twigs. Movie houses are so hot—no air conditioning, you know—that two actors passed out on the screen last week in a drama of the frozen north.

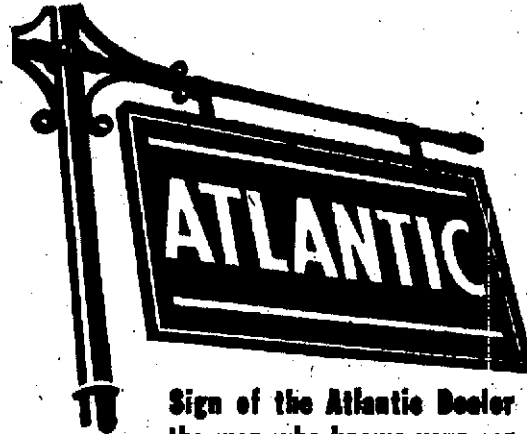

Londoners, unlike the New Yorkers you wrote about, don't open the windows and strip down to the altogether. It isn't done, old boy. It would embarrass the daylight out of the London bobbies and they have enough to fret about, poor devils, in those thick, hot helmets of theirs.

Of course I write as one of that under privileged handful mired in London the last two weeks in August while the millions who haven't had their brains baked out are at the seashore with the icy surf trickling over them.

They won't believe, any more than you will, Hal, that the fog and drizzle of the London summer have evaporated for once. They're having a wonderful time picturing the rest of us clustered around a cold radiator, sneezing, shivering, cursing softly.

And don't kid yourself, Boyle—by next week we probably will be!

DAY OF REST

I've bathed all the caparades,
I've hung a dozen shades,
I've curled pots to corner spots,
And worked at twenty trades.

I've mended jars of pickles
And made a few repairs,
I've mended the ax to the ends,
And even the cellar stairs.

I'm leaning on a ladder
Until the next request,
There's more in view for me to do
On this . . . my day of rest.

My plans had been for fishing,
A few short miles away
But who would ruin when things at home
So nicely fill the day?

My heart was set on boating
Where was I to go?
But who could wish to boat and fish?
One guess is all you need!

Fears Wife Met With Foul Play; She, Money Gone

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 2 (AP)—A chartered airplane was standing by at the Bridgeport airport today as a distraught husband awaited word from police about his wife and their adopted three-year-old daughter whom he said had been missing since Friday afternoon with between $1,300 and $5,000 in his pocket possession.

Meanwhile, police in Bridgeport, Philadelphia, Atlantic City, N. J., and Decatur, Ill., were pressing their search for Mrs. James Moon of Philadelphia, wife of an engineer in a box factory here.

Detective Lieut. Joseph Morris quoted Moon as saying his wife had been at Decatur visiting her mother, Mrs. Grace Smith, last week and had agreed to drive the family car to Bridgeport on Friday, his birthday, to meet him at the Stratfield Hotel. While at Decatur, said Moon, his wife of three months arranged to sell her own car.

The detective said that when Moon arrived at the hotel Friday after work, he found that his wife had been there and had left a birthday gift for him. He was informed she had left almost immediately after leaving the present, apparently for Philadelphia, their home.

Moon was under the impression, said Morris, that their plans had become scrambled and that his wife expected him to meet her at Philadelphia. When telephone calls to their home there failed to reach her, Moon went to Pennsylvania Friday to search for her. Sunday, Moon said, a friend he did not identify, telephoned him that he had seen his car, a new and easily identified yellow Buick convertible, at Atlantic City with a man behind the wheel. The friend said Mrs. Moon was not in the car. After a search at Atlantic City had failed to disclose either the car or his wife, Moon returned to Bridgeport Sunday and reported her missing.

Morris quoted Moon as saying he feared "foul play" had befallen his wife.

Fined Twice for Plates
Robert Burgher of West Shokan was arrested twice on August 29 by State Trooper Ray Dunn of Phoenixia, charged with illegal use of license plates on two trucks owned at Beechford Farm at Beeville. The arrest was in the town of Shandaken where Burgher was charged with using "switched" plates on a truck. Before Justice of the Peace Fred Decker at Allaben a $15 fine was paid. The second arrest was in the town of Olive where Trooper Dunn arrested Burgher with using a 1946 plate on truck. The second charge, three hours after the first charge had been made, was heard before Justice of the Peace Fred Weeks where a $10 fine was imposed and payment suspended.

Struck by Lightning
Thomaston, Conn., Sept. 2 (AP)—One man was killed and another seriously injured when they were struck by lightning in the cellar of a house in the Reynolds, bridge section of this town during a violent electrical storm today. Mark Sears, 49, was instantly killed when the bolt, which ripped a three-foot hole in the foundation of the house, entered a furnace on which he and his father-in-law, George Vickers, 74, were working, and caused an explosion.

New England Storm
Boston, Sept. 2 (AP)—Blinding rains and roaring winds lashed parts of New England today with one man killed in the crash of a building and several areas reporting "damage like the 1938 hurricane." In southeastern Massachusetts and New Hampshire cities and towns reported wide damage, with high winds tearing up trees, blowing away roofs and smashing buildings as morning thunderstorms built up to high intensity.

Calvin Dort Arrested
On a warrant issued by Justice Joseph Fitzsimmons charging that Calvin Dort of Woodstock was a disorderly person in that he failed to provide for the support of his wife, Dorothy Dort, State Trooper Ray Dunn of Phoenixia arrested Calvin Dort and the matter was adjourned by Justice Fitzsimmons until 7 p. m. on September 5. Bail of $200 was posted. The arrest was made Friday night.

Fined on Two Charges

Credits Hoover With Saying U. S. Provoked Jap War

Washington, Sept. 2 (AP)—The American Magazine today quoted former President Herbert Hoover as saying that this country should have played out of World War 2 and "we never would have been attacked by the Japanese if we had not given them provocation."

In an article for the September issue, writer Sidney Shalett said the 73-year-old Republican statesman also told him Premier Stalin of Russia will make international agreements "with the full knowledge that they aren't worth a damn if they do not work out to his advantage."

Shalett wrote that Hoover declared in an interview it would have been in the best interests of world peace if this country had held aloof from the recent fighting with the explanation:

"My theory is that, if we had kept out of the immediate conflict, we could have put our sword down on the table with our economic resources intact and made a decent peace when the time for peacemaking came."

"I never believed the British were in danger of defeat. When Germany attacked Russia, it made British victory possible."

Shalett said the former president does not feel that either Communist world domination or another world war is inevitable, and holds the opinion that economic weapons of the United States will prevail in the end despite a "whole series of Communist revolutions now under way."

Hoover made a post-war world survey as a special representative of President Truman. Recently he was appointed by the Republican-controlled House to serve on a 12-man commission which will consider ways of streamlining the structure of the federal government.

Suffers Broken Ribs In Auto Accident

Mrs. Mary Braby, 73, of Route 2, Saugerties, suffered three broken ribs in an automobile accident on the Glisco Turnpike about 3 p. m. Friday, according to a state police report.

Mrs. Braby was a passenger in a 1941 Oldsmobile operated by Signe Swanson, 64, of Route 2, Saugerties, which was involved in a collision with a Plymouth sedan operated by K. Williams, Kleine, 16, of Shady.

According to the story told to state police by Williams, he was coming on the Turnpike from Phillips road when his car was struck by the Swanson machine. Other details were lacking.

The Oldsmobile had its front axle broken and front wheel and mudguard smashed. The front end of the Plymouth sedan was badly damaged.

Only one case had been before it since its solemn inauguration in April 1946. The lone case was a British complaint against Albania, growing out of the death of 42 seamen and damage to warships from mines in the Corfu channel, between Albania and Greece.

Has Brouck-Newton
Miss Eugenia Audrey Newton, daughter of Mrs. Emma Wood Newton, Highland, became the bride of Stanley Eugene Has-Brouck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Has Brouck, New Paltz, August 24 at 3 p. m. in the Highland Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Oscar Jelsma, pastor officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Earle V. Foote, Poughkeepsie, at the organ played a program of bridal music preceding the wedding. Miss Grace Bruckner sang "Because" and "O Perfect Love." Baskets of white gladioli were arranged with palms at the altar. White tapers with holders were in the window with white gladioli. The aisles were decorated with bouquets of white flowers tied by white satin ribbons.

The bride who was given in marriage by her mother wore a gown of slipper satin styled with princess lines, long pointed sleeves, sweetheart neckline with seed pearl trimming, fitted bodice, buttoned at the back and a full skirt terminating in a train. Her full length veil of illusion was caught to a tiara of lace and orange blossoms and she carried a white prayer book arranged with gardenias and streamers of white satin ribbons tied with orange blossoms.

Mrs. Vernon Terwilliger of Highland, cousin of the bride, wore a yellow taffeta gown. Miss Nancy Keller of Hyde Park, classmate of the bride at New Paltz State Teachers College, as maid of honor wore aqua taffeta. Both had lace mitts, horseshoe picture hats to match their gowns and carried colonial bouquets. Patricia Lordi as flower girl wore a pink taffeta gown with pink wreath in her hair. She carried a colonial bouquet.

Herbert Van Sieten attended the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Richard and William Heroy of New Paltz.

A reception for the immediate families was held at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Adna Wood. Mr. and Mrs. Has-Brouck left for a wedding trip. For traveling she chose an aqua suit with black and white accessories and an orchid corsage.

A graduate of Highland High School, the bride attended New Paltz State Teachers College. Mr. Has Brouck attended New Paltz schools and served 18 months in the navy. He is in the contracting business with his father.

Upon their return they will reside on Millrock Road, New Paltz.

Kingston Dodgers Capture 1947 N.A.L. Pennant by Four Games

Alton Gilbert's 17th Victory Comes In Clincher Against Peekskill Team

The baseball pennant Branch Rickey, Jr., promised Kingston in May was achieved Saturday night in Peekskill, when the Dodgers nosed out the Peekskill Highlanders, 10 to 9, in a heavy hitting duel that nailed down the 1947 North Atlantic League pennant by a four game margin over the tenacious, second place Carbondale Pioneer Blues.

Thus, in its first season of organized ball in more than 30 years, a Kingston team won the championship despite a campaign plagued by injuries, change of managers in midstream and other factors not generally associated with a pennant race. The 1947 Dodgers assumed the lead in the first week of the season and were never headed. Carbondale staged a great August drive but the Dodgers held them off at least five games most of the way.

Hard pressed during the final two weeks of the campaign, the Dodgers pushed across two runs in the top of the ninth to clinch the important victory. Ironically enough, it came over the prostrate forms of the Dodgers' bitterest rivals—Al Gardella's 1946 champions.

Alton Gilbert saved the game with a brilliant five-inning scoreless relief stint, while Knobby Rosa and Walt Kowalski collaborated with the important baseknocks in the ninth. For Gilbert, top finger on George Pratt's staff and probable starter in the playoffs, it was his 17th victory of the season against 6 defeats.

Tired after a nerve-racking August schedule, the Prattmen dropped three of their five games over the holiday week-end. The scores were:

Peekskill 7, Kingston 3
Peekskill 3, Kingston 2
Kingston 10, Peekskill 9
Bloomington 11, Kingston 5
Kingston 11, Bloomington 1

Bennett Winner
"Dangerous Dan" Bennett closed out the regular season before 1100 spectators last night at municipal stadium with a gaudy four-hit job against the Bloomington Troopers.

Bennett survived his customary first inning litters when a walk, sacrifice hit and a single gave the visitors a temporary 1-0 lead. He settled down to strike out eight and walk only five. Bloomington picked up a hit in the seventh and two in the ninth. After "Butch" Sawatski had garnered one of his rare safeties in the ninth, Schrage followed with a single but Bennett retired the next three batters in easy fashion.

Kowalski's 25th Triple
Walt Kowalski hammered his 25th triple of the campaign and two singles and drove in three runs. Chris Kilos slapped three singles and drove in a pair, while Rudy Antonetz poked a double and two singles and chased in two runs. Fielding gem of the game was Bobby Newhard's one-handed stab of McKenzie's Texas Leaguer in the eighth. Manager Steve Kuk used five pitchers, three of them rookies who were getting their last chance to show their stuff.

The Saturday night clincher saw Kingston, led by Rosa and Kowalski, pile up 14 hits against Ray Fancell and Steve Bellucci, a couple of top Peekskill flingers. The Dodgers led 8-5 when Peekskill knocked across four runs in the fourth and were in front 9-8 until the ninth. Gilbert relieved starter Johnny Zigmund in the fourth and after putting out the fire, proceeded to toss five gooseeggs at the home club.

Kowalski rapped his 24th triple and two singles, while Rosa had a double and two singles. Todd, Peekskill right fielder, was the individual star with a homer, triple and two singles.

Eddie Garlock won a pitching duel over Johnny Rogan and Harry Hintz in Saturday night's opener, Peekskill pushing across a rush in the eighth inning. Wiley Williams homered for the Dodgers, while Brian Korr hit three singles. Todd continued his heavy batting with three singles.

Labor Day Slugfest
The Labor Day afternoon game in Bloomington was a typical slugfest, with the club scoring runs like telephone numbers in the late innings.

Four home runs enlivened the contest which saw Kingston out-hit their hosts 16-1. Manager George Pratt hit his first home run for the locals, while Knobby Rosa crashed his 10th. Leonard crashed a grand slam circuit for Bloomington in the big sixth when the winners scored five times. Krupp also hit for the circuit.

The Dodgers led 6-2 when Leonard poked his grand slam in the sixth for a 7-6 Bloomington margin. Kingston made it 9-7 in their half of the seventh. The Troopers sliced away a run in the seventh and clinched the game with three in the eighth. Lanky Ted Seddon collapsed after four scoreless games.

Rosa, who smashed eight hits in three games, added three singles to his home run. Leonard had a two

Bouts Set At 'Keepsie'

Poughkeepsie—Amateur boxing returns to Poughkeepsie next Wednesday night, September 3, with a card of seven five-round matches to be held in the new Riverview field. The sparkling arc-light system installed this season for the Colonial League games will illuminate the ring with its 115,000 watts, setting the stage for the appearance of a crack troupe of leather swingers from the metropolitan area.

The card includes—Wade Peterson, 160, of New York, vs. Johnny Richards, Poughkeepsie; Allen Williams, 160, of Poughkeepsie, vs. Pat Fusano, New York; Mike Saltee, 145, Poughkeepsie, vs. Mario Marino, Manhattan; Jimmy Walls, 125, Poughkeepsie, vs. Jimmy Aquilini, of New York; Billy Brandt, 150, of Poughkeepsie, vs. Harry Bridgeforth, of Brewster; and Billy McKern, of Peekskill, vs. Don Bridgeforth of Brewster.

Batting Titles Seem Sure for Williams, Walker

New York, Sept. 2 (AP)—Harry Walker, hard-hitting outfielder of the Philadelphia Phillies and Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox's slugging fly chaser, appeared headed for the batting championships of their respective leagues today as Walker enjoyed a 34 point-margin in the National League while Williams was out front by nine points in the American.

The cap-pulling Walker added two more points to his batting average during the week that ended Sunday to boost his average to .354. Williams, out for his first batting title since 1942, gained three points to raise his percentage to .340.

For the third straight week, Walker was being challenged by a different runner-up. This time it was Phil Cavarretta of the Chicago Cubs who moved into second place with .320. Augie Galan of Cincinnati was third with .288 while Pete Reiser of Brooklyn skidded from second to fourth with .315. Bob Elliott of Boston was fifth with .314. Others in the first 10 included Frank Gustine, Pittsburgh, .312; Tommy Holmes, Boston, .311; Johnny Mize, New York, .308; Ralph Kistner, Pittsburgh, .307 and Dixie Walker, brother of Harry, Brooklyn, .306.

Dale Mitchell, rookie Cleveland outfielder, trailed Williams with .331. Lou Boudreau, his manager with .320 while Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees and Luke Appling and Taft Wright of the Chicago White Sox were tied for fifth with .315. A point behind was Johnny Pesky of Boston with .314. Barney McCosky of the Philadelphia Athletics was ninth with .313 and Bob Dillinger rounded out the big ten with .298.

U. S. Retains Davis Cup; Australia Routed 4 to 1

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 2 (AP)—Once more, the Davis cup belonged to the United States today, saved by California's tennis buddies, stubble-haired Jack Kramer and shoeless Ted Schroeder, in a 4-1 triumph over the challengers from Australia.

It may be a long long time before the tennis world sees another singles battle like the one yesterday in which Schroeder outlasted Dinny Pails to apply the clincher to the five-match series.

For 71 games the two players fought, with Schroeder discarding his shoes half the time and Pails missing several chances at victory, before the American finally won out, 6-3, 8-6, 4-6, 9-11, 10-8.

It was the longest singles match ever played in a Davis cup challenge round.

The match, which lasted three hours and ten minutes, completely captivated the holiday crowd of 9,000 and turned the finale in which Kramer crushed John Bromwich, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2, into an anti-climax.

Plays Sans Shoes

In the 13th game Ted kicked off his shoes and continued in his bare feet.

Pails scored 64 placements to 58 for Schroeder but the American countered with 24 service aces, compared with 20 for Pails.

Bromwich, who had carried Schroeder to four sets in the first round was no more match for the incomparable Kramer than Pails had been.

It took Jack less than an hour to wrap it up in a straight-set duel that saw him score 30 placements and nine aces against six placements and no aces for Bromwich.

Kramer, who probably will be a professional before another challenge round arrives, will open the defense of his national singles title later this week.

Schroeder's victory over Bromwich might have been forfeited, except for the good sportsmanship of the Aussies.

A masseur had come onto the court without permission to work a cramp out of Schroeder's arm. Since this was a violation of Davis cup rules, the Americans offered to forfeit the match. Men said, but Roy Cowling, Aussie captain, would not hear of it.

Cardinals Entrench for Long Home Stand While Brooks Hit the Road

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

The day hopes of the St. Louis Cardinals brightened considerably today while those of the Boston Red Sox flickered noticeably as the major league pennant races roared into the September stretch drive.

The odds were still very much against the Redbirds despite their double win yesterday which cut the front running Brooklyn Dodgers lead to six and a half games in the National League. However, the schedule from here on in greatly favors the St. Louisans.

Of their remaining 25 games, 17 are scheduled on their home grounds. Of their last 38 games at Sportsman's Park, they've won 30 for an amazing .789 percentage.

Brooks Hit Road

The Dodgers, who wound up a long home stand yesterday with a split of a double header with the Philadelphia Phillies, must play 18 of their remaining 22 games on the road. The Brooks record away from Ebbets Field this season is 31-28 for a .525 percentage.

The Cardinals whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates twice in St. Louis 5-3 and 8-2, winning the fourth game of the Shaughnessy playoff finale between the Hofbrau and Morgan's Restaurant will be played at the Athletic Field this evening at 6:15 o'clock.

Hofbrau leads two games to one in the best four out of the seven series.

Brooklyn and Philadelphia exchanged 5-0 shutouts, the Dodgers winning the first game of the morning-afternoon doubleheader in which two admissions were charged. A surprisingly dramatic turn of events for the morning game caused a great deal of confusion, which caused Brooklyn President Branch Rickey to offer a public apology. Of the some 40,000 who milled outside Ebbets Field trying to get in, 28,153 made it. The afternoon game drew 35,468.

Giants Set Mark

The New York Giants swept both ends of a doubleheader at the Polo Grounds from the Boston Braves 2-1 and 12-2. They smashed three home runs to set a new club record of 183 bettering the old record of 182 established by the Yankees of 1936.

Manager Sucky Harris of the Yankees was chased by Umpire Nick Jones for "delaying tactics" as the Red Sox spanked the pacesetters 6-3 and 4-1. Harris had held up the opener while trying to make up his mind whether to yank Karl Drews, his pitcher. Jones, after trying to get the game going without any apparent success, finally ejected Harris and ordered a new pitcher. Harris fled a protest with American League President Will Harridge.

The third place Tigers won two from the Chicago White Sox 6-5 and 7-2.

Feller Wins 17th

Bob Feller twirled his 17th straight victory and his 17th of the year by pitching the Cleveland Indians to a 2-1 win as the tribe captured two games from the St. Louis Browns. The Indians won the second game 4-2. The only run off Feller came as a result of Jeff Heath's 24th home run.

Washington dealt the Philadelphia Athletics the fifth and successive losses by winning both games 4-0 and 7-4. The defeats dropped the A's into the second division.

Subjected to a 1-0 shutout defeat in the first game when Bob Chipman outthrew Ken Raffensberger in a southpaw pitching duel, the Cincinnati Reds turned on a first-time starter, John Miller for 10 runs in the first inning to defeat the Chicago Cubs in the second game 13-2. The Cubs, however, came up with a timely play in the second game, their second of the season.

'Springtime' Is Big Hit With Horton In Stellar Role

Woodstock, Sept. 1—Huge is hardly big enough a word to describe the success made by Edward Everett Horton in "Springtime for Henry" which opened last night at the Woodstock Playhouse. The capacity crowd out front chuckled, giggled, guffawed and howled at the hilarious characterization Mr. Horton gave. His chain reactions to almost any remark were accompanied with the slow dawning of understanding and the progressive mirth of the audience.

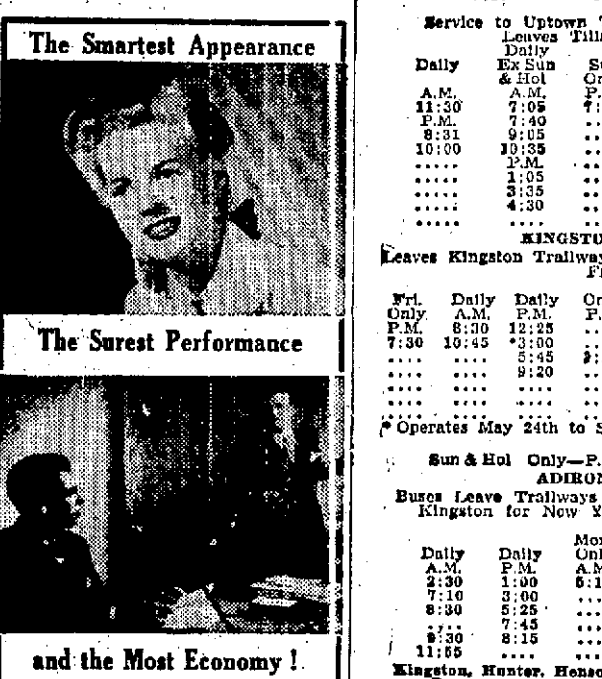

The play, a rather high comedy, is the story of a middle aged man

Henry" has been a favorite with summer theatre audiences. Seekers after amusement in this area may be glad that the play is at the Woodstock Playhouse for a week and that there will be matinees on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. It is fun for all the family and though slightly broad in spots, it will not offend anyone, certainly not the members of the younger generation.

How They Played

New York, (AP)—Four former New York Rangers have been appointed to coaching berths in the last six months. Clint Smith will coach the Tulsa Oilers in the United States Hockey League. Mac Colville will pilot the Vancouver Canucks of the Pacific Coast League. Leroy (Goldy) Goldworthy will handle the Buffalo Bisons of the American League and Art Somers will guide the Winnipeg Black Hawks.

LET'S EAT!

BACK-TO-SCHOOL PARTY WILL DELIGHT YOUNGSTERS

A "book" of cake, "alphabet" chicken and "roll call" of soft drinks for a back-to-school party. And, of course, an apple for teacher.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Start the new school year with a laugh for the youngsters. They'll enjoy "A-B-C's" atop creamed chicken—"books" on chocolate cake—the "roll call" in the form of little blackboards placed around the room on individual bottles of their favorite soft drinks. Add a bowlful of apples for "teacher."

Alphabet Chicken

First draw, then cut patterns for letters 3 inches high and extend the cardboard for another solid inch below each letter to make a base for holding them upright in casserole. Roll out 1 recipe for baking powder biscuits, 1/2 inch thick. Cut out letters around letter patterns with tip of sharp knife. Cut out 16 tiny biscuits with round 1-inch cutter for 8 larger biscuits. Cut remaining dough into usual size biscuits to serve with the chicken. Place on greased baking sheets. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) about 12 minutes for letters and small biscuits, 15 minutes for larger size. While biscuits are baking, prepare your favorite creamed chicken recipe. To serve, transfer creamed chicken to serving dish. Stand biscuit letters, A-B-C, upright in center and place tiny biscuit rounds along outside edge.

Beverage Roll Call

Let the youngsters help cut black cardboard into small slats with rounded corners, then decorate them with chalk. Hang on each soft drink bottle.

Chocolate Books

Two bakers' sponge layers (or pound cakes), chocolate icing, white frosting.

Put sponge layers together with chocolate icing between. Cover top and one side with thin layer of white frosting; allow to set. Cover again with thick layer of chocolate icing; allow to set. Use white frosting to decorate with the word, "Books."

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 2 (AP)—Stocks generally swung upward in today's market after considerable early hesitancy.

Mild irregularity and slowdowns followed a fairly active opening. Dealings quickened for an interval in the third hour as steel, motors, rails and assorted industrial fractions pushed forward. Gains of fractions to a point or more were well in the majority near the fourth period although the pace slackened.

Short covering and investment bidding again were predicted mainly on hopes for a September rally. The rush of veterans to cash their terminal leave bonds revived inflationary psychology marketwide and inspired purchasing of shares on the idea that business would enjoy at least an intermediate bulge. Doubts regarding the export situation and confusing international affairs kept many customers on the sidelines.

In front were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Coparwood Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Goodrich, International Harvester, Caterpillar Tractor, American Telephone, Western Union, American Smelting, Westinghouse, du Pont, Johns-Manville, Texas Co. and U. S. Gypsum.

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

One player who always can be counted upon to get to a slam contract, if it is in the cards, is Ebertram Lehar, Jr., of New Rochelle, N. Y., treasurer of the American Contract Bridge League. Lehar may be accused of "wild" bidding at times, but he always can show sound reasons for his bids. However, even he had to admit that the bidding on today's hand, which came up in a game at his home, was a bit fantastic.

Lehar sat South and his partner was Mrs. Lehar.

The bidding progressed normally to start with. Some players might oon the South hand with a forcing two-bid, but I agree with Lehar that the hand is not strong enough for that. With the wonderful spade fit, Mrs. Lehar jumped in diamonds to tell her partner that they were going to make not only a game, but probably a slam. When Lehar replied with three hearts, he accepted the slam invitation, and his partner then showed her preference between hearts and spades with the three-spade bid. Lehar's four-club bid showed the club ace and North's five-club showed the club king. Seeing prospects of a grand slam instead of a small slam, Lehar now bid five diamonds, his void suit. Remember that his partner had made a jump bid in diamonds. Mrs. Lehar naturally thought that he held the king of diamonds. Having supported spades, she thought it was time to show control in hearts, so she bid five hearts. Lehar in turn thought that she held the king of hearts, so without further ado he bid seven spades.

The play presented no problem at the trump broke two-two, and the clubs three-three, but as Lehar remarked, it is seldom that both partners support the other's suit with a void as they did in this hand.

Cole, Gaffkin Are Named to Organize 156 F.A. Locally

President Truman's proclamation of September 16 as National Guard Day will spark the local campaign on reviving the 156th Field Artillery under the direction of two Kingston veterans, Major Richard J. Cole, of 25 Roosevelt avenue and Lieut. William E. Gaffkin of 203 Fair street.

Major Cole has been designated by Col. Frank W. Harkin to activate the service battery of the 156th, and Lieut. Gaffkin, the headquarters unit. Both are experienced officers in field artillery.

Major Cole formerly was with the 170th Field Artillery as a battalion S-4 during that unit's tour of federal service. He is regarded as a very capable service battery officer.

Lieut. Cole, a graduate of the Officer Candidate School at Fort Sill, Okla., is considered an able forward observer in artillery.

The two local men will accompany Col. Harkin to a statewide recruiting conference in New York on September 5, to familiarize themselves with details of the various ways to handle the Kingston campaign which will extend from September 16 to November 16.

How Truman Was Picked
New York, Sept. 2 (AP)—The "inside" story of how the late President Roosevelt picked Harry S. Truman for the 1948 vice-presidential nomination is told by the autobiography of Edward J. Flynn, Democratic national committee man from New York and close associate of the late President. The book, entitled "You're the Boss," is to be published Friday by the Viking Press.

Blow-Out Blamed for Crash

A two-car accident on the Rosendale Road, along Route 32, near the Lefevre farm, resulted in extensive damages to both vehicles and slight injuries to one of the passengers, a report released by the sheriff's office stated today. The accident occurred at around 1:50 a. m. Sunday. The left front tire on a 1940 DeSoto, operated by Adonis Popp, 26, of Tillson, blew out, causing the car, which was traveling toward Kingston, to go over the white line on the road and into the opposite lane where it sideswiped a 1938 Chevrolet operated by Robert Heppner, 40, of the Bronx, the report said.

After the collision, the Popp vehicle was turned completely around, facing in the opposite direction. The Heppner car was forced over into the other lane. Both left sides of the two cars were badly damaged. William Quigg, also of the Bronx, a passenger in the Heppner auto, sustained lacerations of the left hand and slight facial contusions, the report said, but refused medical treatment. The accident was investigated by County Identification Officer Leonard Belmore and Deputy Sheriff Arthur Smith. No arrests were made.

forced landing, that sent him to nearby Berea Hospital. His condition was described as fair.

Breaks Leg in Landing
Jean L. Zeigler of Kenmore, N. Y., flying an experimental fighter, the Curtiss XP40-Q and apparently in the race without authorization, gave the entire race crowd an unlooked for scare by abandoning his plane and parachuting in full sight of the stands. He broke a leg in landing.

Only six of the 13 planes which took off in the Thompson Classic finished.

Cleveland's win was worth $19,500, including $2,000 for a new record and $1,500 in lap prizes.

William Brennan of Oshkosh, Wis., took home $8,500 for victories in the Goodyear Trophy Race for midget planes. He averaged 165.8 miles an hour around a two-mile rectangular course.

William Falk, 31-year-old Warwick, N. Y., flying instructor, pushed his little "jeep" to comfortable victory in the consolation heat of the $25,000 Goodyear Trophy.

Falk, a native of Finland, who built his plane and then flew it to Cleveland, won $400 for his efforts. His winning speed was announced as 141.6 miles an hour for ten laps around the 2-1/4 mile course.

Lt. Col. Robert L. Pettit of Ventura, Calif., averaged 500.7 miles an hour for 154 miles to win a special division of the Thompson race for jet planes. He flew a P-80 Shooting Star as did the other five contestants.

Ken Knight of Walnut Ridge, Ark., won a special race for P-63 Kingcobra planes with a speed of 352.1 miles an hour and won $2,500.

Paul Mantz, Hollywood stunt flier and plane collector, won for the second straight year the Bendix Trophy Race from Van Nuys, Calif., to Cleveland with an average of 460 miles an hour for the 2,030 mile dash. He bettered his previous mark by 25 miles an hour.

Newest type of mirror is one coated on the front instead of the back with aluminum for use in scientific instruments.

RITA RETURNS
Wearing a dress with the new longer hemline, Rita Hayworth, film actress, stands on the deck of the SS. Queen Elizabeth. She denied rumors of a reconciliation with her husband, Orson Welles.

Bitten by Boy
John Kelly, 11, of 17 Downs street was bitten on the right leg by a dog, according to a police report at 7:01 p. m. Sunday. He was treated at the Kingston Hospital.
